

'Ou est les dishes de chafing?'

A study day in memory of Bob Thomson
Saturday 7th October 2006
Tudor Merchant's Hall, Southampton, SO14 2AP

This day-school will honour the memory of Bob Thomson, who died a year ago. The aim is to hear papers from Bob's friends and colleagues that reflect the variety of subjects that interested him.

10.00	Arrival and coffee
10.30	Ou est les dishes de chafing?	Duncan Brown
11.00	Redware Pegaus in Ireland	Clare McCutcheon
11.30	A Guernsey shipwreck and Saintonge pottery	Jon Adams
12.00	Boats, Bullets and Buildings: my Boss Bob – the Polymath	Jean Cook
12.30	Discussion and lunch
2.00	Bob Thomson and the Southampton Town Defences	David Hinton
2.30	Guns And Springalds; Defending Medieval Southampton	Andy Russel
3.00	The re-use of Roman building materials	David Williams
3.30	Codswallop! or how I came to find myself in Newfoundland	Mark Brisbane
4.00	The Origins of Post-medieval archaeology, a personal perspective	Lawrence Butler
4.30	Discussion and close

There will also be a sale of books from Bob's archaeological library, the proceeds to go to his widow.

This event is free, but you will need to book your place.

Please contact Lisa Moore on 02380 635904, or Duncan Brown on 02380 915728, Duncan.brown@southampton.gov.uk.